

STAKEHOLDER DIALOGUE WORKSHOP SERIES: FUTURE EUROPEAN PRODUCT STANDARD FOR ETICS OCTOBER 2021 – MAY 2022

This series of dialogue workshops aims to offer an open platform for exchange and discussion about the latest draft version of the future CEN product standard for External Thermal Insulation Composite Systems (ETICS; prEN 17237) before and during the enquiry period from January 6th to April 28th 2022. Bringing together experts from the relevant stakeholders - such as regulators, notified bodies, system holders, and component suppliers – will help to further improve the draft, e.g. by solving mistakes or improving the readability.

CEN/TC88/WG18 convenor Dr. Thomas Lohmann will guide participants through the draft and key principles. This will support a better understanding of the complex document and its use in practice.

The EAE supports this workshop series. Recordings of all sessions will be publicly available via EAE's website. The same applies to FAQs or a "common" table of comments being identified during these workshops. EAE will submit these comments together with own comments during enquiry.

Please, find hereafter the planned online workshops and the links for participation. Participation is free of charge. Please, feel free to share these links to relevant experts.
